Per your request and addressing your concerns about possible use of concentrates from DR Congo or adjoining countries in the production of tin ingots; our company OPERACIONES METALURGICAS S.A. (OMSA) would like to confirm that the production of tin ingots refined and manufactured at our plant in Oruro (Bolivia), does not use nor has ever processed in the past neither plans to use in a near future any 'conflict' mineral concentrates. The production of all our lots and materials is prepared with 'non-conflict' mineral concentrates according Section 1502 of the US Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act and is not of Congolese origin, nor it is sourced from adjoining countries.

The tin metal ingots of delivery under contract P00567/C (E-006/2019) have been produced in Bolivia with a 100% of tin concentrates sourced from South American mines.

We hope this notice will be able to address your request and concerns on such issue.

Our Best Regards,

Mariano Peró
